

Exercise

Changing the Limit of a Tight Constraint

The optimal solution to the two-dimensional linear programming problem has integer values for the decision variables. This does not need to be the case. Change the limit of the first constraint in the demonstration program above. Re-solve the problem. The optimal solution should change. Why?